The CHS COVID-19 Initiatives Team seeks to foster and support communication and collaboration across the college on COVID-19 related activities.

One of our objectives is to capture ideas, interests and current projects related to COVID-19 and help form and coordinate teams who have expertise or similar interests in order to rapidly develop and implement projects.

We also want to make sure that we aren’t duplicating efforts but facilitating the coordination and communication of our efforts across CHS, ASU and the community related to COVID-19. Several individuals are already working with various agencies or have received requests for help from community members and partners. We want to collect this information and offer assistance where possible.

Five domain areas
We have identified 5 domain areas and plan to form teams related to each domain, led by a CHS faculty and staff member. The central theme of Teaching, Education, and Dissemination (or TED) runs through each domain. Our goal is for the teams to begin meeting as early as next week. The 5 domain areas are:
- Research / COVID-19 Translational Team
- Student Vitality
- Faculty and Staff Vitality
- Community Partnerships and Engagement
- Health and Well-being

Please contribute: Complete the survey
To contribute ideas or information, join one or more of the domain teams, share your ongoing partnerships or projects or work on various projects related to COVID-19, please complete this survey.

Your ideas, your energy and your collaboration are exactly what we need to deliver better health outcomes and solutions to the communities we serve.

If you have questions or concerns, please feel free to email us at CHSCovid@asu.edu.

We look forward to working with you!
