Hello clinical educators and students,

This is a message to let you know that ASU external practicum, rotations and internships remain in session and students will continue to attend in person unless the external site, client or the student need to suspend the placement for a period of time. All ASU class instruction has been moved to remote teaching and learning, and ASU remains open at this time.

All Arizona school districts are now closed through Friday, March 27th. Students should work with their supervisors and districts to understand what plans the district has for telehealth and if there are ways they can facilitate continued services. ASU interns may go to the school site to provide telehealth services if the SLP on site is doing so.

If you are a supervisor who must suspend the internship due to your district’s policy, please make sure the student has a midterm evaluation in CALIPSO and has all hours up until the last day approved.

The faculty and staff in the Master of Science in communication disorders program will be assisting students to meet requirements, but will need an accurate reflection of their current competencies.

Students must follow the CDC guidelines regarding staying home if they have traveled to specific areas or if they are experiencing any symptoms, or have had contact with others who have the symptoms of, or a diagnosis of COVID-19.

We are continuing to monitor this rapidly evolving situation closely, and will provide updates as soon as they become available. Arrangements will be made to ensure all students are able to earn sufficient clinical hours.

We will follow the policies put forth by each site and will work with the students on a case by case basis using a contingency plan that was developed by the College of Health Solutions.

Thank you all for your patience and flexibility during this challenging time.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions. We can schedule a videoconference or phone call if needed.
